To whom it May Concern,

Re: Letter of Recommendation for Isaac Powell

I had the distinct pleasure of working with Isaac Powell at Genesis Productions (Australia) Pty Ltd when I was hired as the General Manager of the company in 2004.

During this time, I came to appreciate Isaac's uniqueness, honesty and skill as he took on many tasks that were ranging from the mundane to the complex. In addition, Isaac proved to be a vital part of our creative team, participating in brainstorming and creating tenders, pitches and concepts.

Isaac was employed as the 3D artist (some 6 months prior to my engagement), and would take concepts both orally and written and turn them into dynamic and representational 3D models that were used to plan displays, used in video presentations, as well as client presentations. Often working to a very tight deadline and budget, Isaac astounded us all with his imagination, creativity and grasp of the software he was using. Examples include such things as improving the video logo for the company, to a very complex and detailed 3D model of a huge stand for a client to use in a motor show.

We certainly were sad to see Isaac depart the company but since then Isaac has remained good friends with many of his former fellow employees, including myself.

I would have absolutely no hesitation recommending Isaac for a position utilising his skills in 3D modelling, and can be confident that he will not only astound employers with his talents and creativity, but become a valuable and trusted part of the team.
